Three Requests for GPSA Input

Charlie Van Loan
Dean of Faculty

The Faculty wants your advice because we are in the middle of

1. Revising Policy 1.2 (academic and research misconduct)
2. Improving Tenure Processes (e.g., the role of student letters)
3. Proposing Antiracism Measures (a Center, educational requirements)
1. The Revision of Policy 1.2

This Policy is concerned with academic and research misconduct.

A major revision is before the Senate and will likely be acted upon within a month.

Graduate students are often involved in these cases as witnesses, complainants, and respondents.

Details on the revision and an opportunity to upload comments here.
Need GPSA Input on the Assessment Step

Is Policy 1.2 relevant or does the alleged infraction fall under:

- Code of Academic Integrity
- Policy 6.3 (Consensual Relationships)
- Policy 6.4. (Harassment/Bias)
Etc
Illuminating Example

At a professor’s for-credit, graded research seminar, PhD Student A presents a write-up that includes something that is billed as a new idea. Shortly thereafter PhD Student B discovers that the text related to this idea was lifted from a journal publication.

Things to determine:

- Simple Oversight?
- An attempt to impress the professor because the presentation was not graded?
- An attempt to get a better grade because the presentation “counted”?
- Write-up was from A’s annual report that was submitted earlier to the NSF?
During this semester the Faculty Senate is reviewing every process that shows up from point of hire to trustee approval. Details

Are You Anti-Pandemic?

Do you take steps when you see someone without a mask?

Reasons why you may not:

- You are not wearing a mask yourself.
- You are wearing a mask and are therefore “doing your part.”
- You are wearing a mask and would like to say/do something but lack the confidence.
Are You Anti-Racist?

Do you take steps when you see a racial situation that needs addressing?

Reasons why you may not:

- You willingly buy into the situation yourself.

- You shake your head and are therefore “doing your part.”

- You shake your head and would like to say/do something but you lack the confidence.
Student Educational Requirement: The Logic

Our students need to be literate in matters that concern the historical basis of structural racism, colonialism, bias and injustice.

skilled as antiracists in their everyday life, within their fields of study and beyond.

This requires engagement with scholarly content in the tradition of liberal education and practice through challenging discussion and writing within the disciplines.
For the literacy part, will rely on expertise from faculty in ASRC, AIISP, LSX, AAS, FGSS, and other areas/fields.

Working on details that pertain to roll-out, delivery, and how to integrate the two halves.

Lots of discussion about taking a “menu approach” instead
The Idea of a Center: The WG-C Vision

We envision a Center that will focus our attention on a just and equitable future, while acknowledging that our lives and their meanings are inscribed in violent pasts of colonization, dispossession, enslavement, exclusion, and racialization.

The Center must be a permanent, institutionally-supported unit that responds to instantiations of racism brought to the fore by current events while at the same time being a constant, unrelenting advocate for racial equality and healing.

Tentative Name: The Center for Antiracist, Just, and Equitable Futures

On Activism ...

The Center’s activism should have two components, each of which induces change.

An education-driven component that prompts students and faculty to examine the extent of their personal antiracist behavior and change accordingly.

A research-driven component that prompts authorities to create policy based on new understandings of structural racism and bias.
The Faculty Education Piece: The Logic

Structural racism and systemic bias stand between what Cornell is and what it should be.

A faculty that actively works to dismantle racial and cultural barriers is critical.

The required educational program aims to support the faculty in this effort.
Key Features

1. Expanded DEI Programming of the kind now offered through OFDD. E.g., more 1.5 hr workshops like “It Depends on the Lens” which covers faculty recruiting.

2. Historically-oriented programming designed to educate faculty on matters that concern structural racism, bias, indigeneity. E.g., How was the Morrill Land Grant Act implemented? Why was there a water crisis in Flint or a Superdome situation during Katrina? Affecting behavior through historical knowledge.

3. Enhanced Participation via Accreditation. E.g., You can’t be a DGS unless you are accredited and you become accredited through participation in a DGS education workshop. If you are asked to be a DGS and you refuse accreditation then you are refusing to do part of your job.

4. Enhanced accountability via course evals, promotion dossiers, and program reviews. View these as opportunities to uplift our commitment to DEI.
